The image shows a laboratory eyewash station and sink area. The wall is covered in blue square tiles. A stainless steel pipe system runs horizontally across the wall, with two faucets. Below the pipes are three white ceramic fixtures: a large rectangular eyewash basin on the left, a smaller rectangular eyewash basin in the middle, and two standard pedestal sinks on the right. A yellow cloth is draped over the leftmost faucet. Above the pipes, there are two white paper towel dispensers. The floor is a light-colored, possibly wooden or laminate, surface. In the foreground, the backs of two grey office chairs are visible.
